County votes cut in road patrol funds

THE MAGIC THAT accompanies the first snowfall of the season hits both young and old alike as these Canton firefighters will attest. No sooner had the white (not so fluffy) stuff hit the ground Thursday when Harry Harrison (left) and Jim Davison felt the urge to put their artistic talents to work in front of the township fire hall. (Staff photo by Art Emanuel)

Canton and Plymouth townships may soon suffer a curtailment of police protection if the Wayne County Board of Commissioners has its way.

On Thursday of last week, the Ways and Means Committee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners voted to fund the sheriff's operations in the townships for a full year. But the amount granted to the department for township patrols was reduced by 25 per cent from last year's $470,000 to $350,000.

At the same time, the Ways and Means Committee also decided to appoint a select subcommittee to study the problem further and develop "recommendations on how to implement the activities of the road patrol" in view of the cutback.

The subcommittee will report back to the board of commissioners no later than Dec. 31.

However, when the county budget was accepted by the county board two weeks ago, the commissioners "resolved not to cut back services to the townships."

"This is the crux of the matter," says Undersheriff Loren M. Pittman. "If the funding is reduced, how can we maintain protection for the townships without a cutback in service?"

The situation is not new, as the county has been trying to reduce service to the western parts of the county for the last four years.

In 1970, the board of commissioners determined that they no longer wanted to maintain protection for the townships. Consequently, they funded the police protection for nine months and forced the township supervisors into complaining all summer before financing services for the last three months of the year. (Sept. 1-Dec. 31)

This August the supervisors didn't complain. Instead, they got a lawyer, Louis Wechsler, who filed for an injunction to prevent the county from withdrawing the sheriff's protection when funds expired at the end of August.

Wechsler went before Circuit Court Judge Thomas Foley and received the injunction on Aug. 28.

Five days later, the county allocated $120,000 to the sheriff's department for the last three months.

But the seven supervisors (one each from Northville, Plymouth, Canton, Van Buren, Sumpter, Huron, and Brownstown townships) were not satisfied.

They asked Wechsler to get a declaratory judgment from the court, which would in essence avoid a suit while getting a policy statement on the matter from the judge.

Attorneys for the county argue that there is no need for a declaratory judgment because the county has funded the sheriff's patrol. They contend the point is moot.

Wechsler's primary concern is the level of the funding for the patrol. The Wayne County Board of Commissioners agree that by law they must provide some protection to the outlying townships. It is a question of degree, and Wechsler wants the court to force the county to provide "a reasonable level of service." He defines reasonable as no less than the current protection the townships receive.

Presently, the townships comprise a 200-square mile area. They are served by 28 Wayne County patrolmen. According to Undersheriff Pittman, they would like to keep four cars on the road during the day and a minimum

Program would make teachers into specialists

By MARILYN FITCHETT

PLYMOUTH—Training each elementary teacher as a learning specialist—that's what Dr. James Leary envisions as a result of an in-service teaching program being studied as a joint venture by Plymouth, Northville and Novi schools.

The districts are studying a program developed by two English educators which would establish a teaching center.

According to board vice president Marda Benson, who is a member of the study committee, the center would serve as a base for in-service teaching, would offer alternative teaching methods and would serve as a clearing house for teaching materials.

"I'm highly enthusiastic about the program and think it would be the greatest thing for Plymouth," Mrs. Benson said.

Leary, assistant superintendent for curriculum, echoed Mrs. Benson, calling the program an "ideal set-up for promoting growth at the local level."

"We would start out by making a needs assessment," Leary said. "This would take place in an intensive summer workshop which would be followed by a program of carefully defined reinforcement so that the summer's work didn't fall by the wayside."

"We'd then be setting up workshops during and after school going from classroom to classroom until each teacher was a learning specialist."

Leary said that the districts will have to make a decision soon on Board differs on winning resolution

PLYMOUTH—What's more important—winning or how you play the game?

Apparently there are some differences of opinion in the Plymouth school board.

Over the objections of secretary Marcia Borowski and vice president Marda Benson, the board passed a resolution commending the Plymouth-Salem football team for "their outstanding season, not only in winning but in sportsmanship and for bringing recognition to the district."

The Rocks were undefeated this year and ranked first among Michigan high schools.

Mrs. Borowski, with support from Mrs. Benson, tried to amend the motion to include sending resolutions to all the district's teams telling them, "It's not whether you win or lose that counts but how you play the game." The move to amend received no other support.

Trustee George Lawton, maker of the original motion, said he hoped that in the future the board would pass a similar resolution for the Centennial Park band.

"But if we do I don't think we should send such a resolution to every student in the district who plays a musical instrument," he said. His motion was approved 6-0 with Trustee Gary Mirto absent.

Deadline nearing for military school

WESTLAND—Persons seeking to apply for nomination to the U.S. Service Academies for the class beginning July, 1975, have until Nov. 29.

Application forms and full information may be obtained by writing to Congressman William Ford, 343 Cannon House Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515.

Ford (D-15th) says that appointments will be available for: the Military Academy at West Point, New York; the Air Force Academy, Colorado Springs; the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland; and Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, New York.

Applicants must be, at least 17-years-old, but no more than 22-years-old as of July 1, 1975. They must be U.S. Citizens, unmarried, and legal residents of the 15th Congressional District, which includes Westland, Garden City and Canton Township.

All youths seeking nomination must submit Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) scores and successfully complete a preliminary physical examination to qualify for nomination.

Competition for nomination will be based on test scores, along with high school academic records and extra-curricular activities.

"All interested students are urged to apply," says Ford. At least five young men from the 15th District will be admitted to the academies next year.

Ford emphasizes nomination doesn't mean automatic appointment to the academies. Once nominated, applicants' opening must be completed for appointment through examinations given by the various academies. Those selected for admission will be notified early in 1975 for enrollment in July.

Those appointed will receive tuition free education culminating in a BS degree, plus receiving the monthly salaries of service personnel. Upon graduation, they will be commissioned as officers in the Army, Air Force, Navy or Merchant Marine. Free medical, dental and legal services are also available to the Academy cadets.

Format changed for student radio

PLYMOUTH—Easy listening has replaced hard rock as the main course served up by Centennial Educational Park radio station WSDP.

Entering its third year of broadcasting, the federally licensed station has chosen a middle-of-the-road approach in order to attract a wider audience range.

According to faculty station manager John Seidelman, the decision of going to a more moderate schedule was made in a summer "brainstorming session" by the student directors. Program director Paul Sincok, a senior, agreed:

"We made our initial contact with the students by offering 80 per cent hard rock music last year," Sincok said. "Now we're aiming for the adult listeners. We're offering contemporary music with some hard rock segments and by doing this I think we're closer to interpreting the goal of our license and that's to serve all segments of the community."

In addition to music the station also presents news, sports—which includes live coverage of all home football and basketball games—weather and features about school and community issues.

"We're seeking a more rounded response by offering a little bit of everything," Sincok said.

FROM THE faculty point of view there's a need for community feedback, said assistant manager Jeff Cardinal.

"We want to get more involved in the community," Cardinal said. "We don't just want listeners; we want people calling us and letting us know what's going on in the community."

But because of a limited staff and facilities, news coverage isn't what it should be, Seidelman said.

"We have no cars, no phones," he said. "We block a 15 minute feature daily on what's happening in the community. It's one of our weakest features and it really should be one of the strongest. We're now trying to contact local organizations, seeking news from them."

Despite a lack of facilities both Seidelman and Cardinal feel their students are getting practical experience in communication.

In addition to having the station federally licensed, students also must be licensed and the staff has arranged a

Vallier hits cities' apathy on transit

Arch Vallier, a Schoolcraft College trustee from Plymouth, suggested Friday that western Wayne County is being left out of mass transportation plans because of the apathy of municipal leaders.

Vallier, a member of the General Assembly of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG), representing Schoolcraft, says he is miffed municipal leaders in this area have remained silent on SEMCOG's transit plan for 1990.

"Northwest Wayne County hasn't received anything in the plan, except for a token bus line," Vallier said. "In fact, when public hearings were held the meeting for western Wayne County was in Taylor. SEMCOG didn't see fit to schedule a hearing in our area — maybe because the plan had little to offer our residents."

VALLIER had protested to the general assembly before, but says a lone voice speaking as representative of a community college hasn't been effective. This weekend he was on the phone with city mayors pleading that they attend Thursday's general assembly meeting to unite and protest inadequate transit provisions for this area. The meeting will begin at 9 a.m. in the Northland Inn, Southfield.

On Thursday, the general assembly will hear a report on the results of public hearings held on the transit plan. "They'll probably hear a report that everything's rosy — but everything isn't rosy and our mayors ought to be there to say so."

"I just can't understand why our cities are so complacent about this area getting nothing in the way of transportation. They should be protesting loudly, but I haven't heard a whisper."

"The least SEMCOG could do is resurrect the old C&O railroad commuter line. But it won't do anything unless this area is heard from Thursday."

Schoolcraft 5th largest in county

Schoolcraft Community College ranks as the fifth largest institution of higher education in Wayne County and the eighth largest community college in the state, according to a newly published report of opening fall enrollments.

Enrollments, compiled by the Michigan Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers, of the 11 largest colleges in Wayne County are: Wayne State University, 33,032; Henry Ford Community College (HFCC), 14,162; Wayne County Community College (WCCC), 13,385; University of Detroit, 8,879; Schoolcraft College (SC), 6,992; University of Michigan-Dearborn, 3,970; Highland Park College, 3,432; Mercy, 1,926; Madonna, 1,399; Shaw, 1,233 and Marygrove with 1,049.

The 10 largest community colleges are: Macomb, 21,512; Oakland, 16,382; HFCC; WCCC; Lansing, 13,003; Mott, 9,917; Delta, 7,393; SCC; Jackson, 6,900 and Washtenaw, 5,216.

Time to enroll at Henry Ford

Persons not now enrolled, who plan to attend Henry Ford Community College next spring, can begin the enrollment process Tuesday, Nov. 19.

That's the day enrollment tickets go on sale to prospective new students who either are residents of the Dearborn School District or who are former students not now enrolled.

Enrollment to new students who live outside of Dearborn will be available beginning Dec. 3.

Purchase of the enrollment tickets starts the registration paperwork and gives the buyer a definite appointment hour for registration between Jan. 28-31. Fee for the ticket is $1 for each evening class or $5 for any number of day classes.

Enrollment tickets may be purchased in the lobby of the Administration Building, 5101 Evergreen at Ford from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays and until 5 p.m. on Fridays.

Spring semester classes will begin Feb. 3 and end June 4.

Business outlook topic for CPAs

"Here We Go Again — The Business Outlook" is the topic for the Nov. 21 meeting of the Detroit Chapter of the National Association of Accountants.

The meeting will begin with a social hour at 5:45 p.m. with dinner served at 6:30 p.m. in Carl's Chop House, 3020 Grand River.

Guest speaker Martha R. Seger, PhD, vice president of investment and economics for Bank of the Commonwealth, will discuss the business outlook for the coming year.

Program chairman is Frank Cook, past president of the Detroit Chapter, NAA.

Why physical education concept revamped

By DARLENE STINSON

WESTLAND—The old days of calisthenics, jumping jacks and rigid classes in a student-packed gym are a matter of history in the Wayne-Westland School District.

Gone are the swarms of protesting girls, who moan at the thought of first-hour swim, and the lines of unwilling students who puff through calisthenics to that never-ending demand, "one-two, one-two."

Physical education classes on the secondary levels are taking a more individualized approach these days, according to Warren Spurlin, assistant superintendent for instruction and curriculum. Students, to varying degrees at each school, may choose from a long list of physical education electives.

Less rigid gym classes have slowly crept into the district's secondary curriculum for the last four or five years, Spurlin said.

At Stevenson Junior High School, for example, the one-year physical education requirement was chopped this year into four, ten-week elective courses, according to principal Mike Washburn. One term of first aid is the only requirement of the program.

SUCH COURSES as fencing, speedball, basketball, gymnastics, cheerleading, weightlifting, golf and badminton are offered. Most courses are open to seventh, eighth and ninth graders, and most are coeducational.

Under the old program format, most students took their general physical education requirement in the seventh grade, Washburn said.

"Not everyone should participate in something like that," Washburn maintains. "Everybody has an interest, and school should be fun. I believe happy kids learn more than unhappy kids. In terms of programs, we have to get kids to like what they're doing. If they don't, in 10 weeks they can see the end in sight."

Washburn termed the program a success.

"It's unbelievable, the difference in attitude. Traditionally, a lot of kids didn't want to be in gym. We thought this was ridiculous because kids have to be physically fit. All the kids are participating now, and the program is working out really well. Our attendance this year has really been up, and gym may be part of it. The only disadvantage is kids who want to take more physical education than we can offer.

"The coeducational idea is tremendous," Washburn added. "By getting the classes co-ed, we're really opening the doors to girls. We have to realize there's a place for girls in athletics. It's getting the girls a lot closer to parity with the boys."

Washburn said many girls are enrolled in a weightlifting course and a 10-week cheerleading program, designed to train girls for cheerleading tryouts next spring.

THE PICTURE is much the same in Wayne Memorial High School, where students for two years have taken two elective courses to fulfill the one-year high school physical education requirement.

Gym courses include swimming, dance, weightlifting and special classes in which athletes can specialize in a specific sport. Classes are not coeducational, unlike those in Stevenson Junior High.

Three years ago, 10th graders at Wayne Memorial were required to take one semester of general physical education and another of swimming, according to principal George Bell.

"In the old days," Bell recalled, "I had girls come down here everyday to get out of swimming or say, 'If I want to play football, why do I have to play basketball?' We recommend now that every student take one semester of swimming. But we're not going to flunk him, if he doesn't want to. Everybody is generally more positive now."

Gym classes on the elementary level are also evolving toward a more relaxed format, according to Susan Price, elementary physical education coordinator. Students are no longer molded to fit the physical education program. Classes, rather, are tailored to fit the needs of students.

Students are not compared with others, Miss Price said, and elementary students are not graded for their performances in gym classes.

"We try to give the kids as many successful experiences as possible," explained Rance Teeple, who teaches gym for Madison and Hoover elementary schools.

Sixth graders in five elementary schools are offered electives in gymnastics, basketball, volleyball, soccer and badminton, Miss Price said.

Physical education programs in all elementary schools are coordinated with art and music programs, she said. While American Indian art and music may be taught in art and music classes, for example, an Indian war dance may be taught in gym. "It's a thematic approach, so what's done in one area is reinforced in another."

The elementary physical education program also focuses on movement education. A child is taught to bounce a ball before he tries his hand at basketball, for example, Miss Price said. An exercise in movement from left to right may also help alleviate a perceptual problem, in which a child reads backwards.

"The philosophy is basically to educate the whole child."

buddy study system with students who have already earned their licenses coaching those who still have to take the test which concerns reading meters, making logs and being familiar with Federal Communication Commission rulings.

Students at the schools are able to take two courses in broadcasting but neither are requisites for working at the station.

"I think when kids come up to the station they see all the buttons and the lights and they feel that they can become their own favorite disc jockey," Sincok said.

"And I think people join the staff because they're inquisitive and because this is another school activity where they can become involved and a part of what's going on."

Seidelman agreed, saying that the station attracts a wide range of students.

"We have both the super academics and the low achievers coming to us," he said. "And we leave it up to Paul to take care of the station. We have very little input in trying to solve problems about people who are habitually late or don't show up."

"Our kids are rookies," Seidelman said. "They make mistakes. Every day is a day when copy is not read well. What we hope we're doing is instilling some pride in them. But we have some kids who really dig in and work and others who think being here is just something to do."

FOR THE student intent on making a career of broadcasting, Cardinal feels it's a real plus to be involved in WSDP.

"The students have two options. They can seek work out in the commercial field or they go on to the university broadcast schools. In either case they're ahead of the others because they have actual on-the-air experience," Cardinal said.

When they attend college they can be on the air in their freshman year when it would ordinarily take them until their junior year.

"We're in the business of communication and we think we're giving a realistic opportunity to write, communicate verbally and take on leadership positions."

Seidelman emphasized that the faculty and student directors are interested in promoting broadcasting as a medium and not just as a club.

"We're the only station which serves Plymouth. We think we know what the audience wants and we're going after it. Nobody else will offer community news to them."

"In essence that's why we were granted our license and that will be the measure of our success—whether or not we meet our goals," Seidelman said.

IN A POLL conducted by the station last year, 23 per cent of the community were known to have listened to the station.

"By far our most popular segment is the live football and basketball coverage," Sincok said. "Especially with winter setting in, people may not want to go out, and even if they do it hurts their pocketbooks and they can turn us on for free."

Surprisingly, Seidelman said, there is no problem of students taking after-school broadcasting shifts.

"Some of these kids get here at 7 a.m. for school and will stay through until 10:30 at night broadcasting basketball," he said. Normally the station comes on the air at noon and signs off at 5:30 p.m. weekdays.

In addition to a staff of close to 40, the station carries six directors, headed by Sincok.

Dave Kosh directs news with Bill Collins heading up sports; Carol Clore, continuity and traffic; Sue DeVenny, promotion specials and public relations, and Bob DeLano, special news.

Sincok conceded there's a never a dull moment around the station which amounts to practically a full-time job for him.

"There's always a lot of crazy things going on," Sincok said. "The most common is to have someone run out of the broadcast room and into the staff room yelling, 'We're not on the air.' So someone will go into the studio and find that a button hasn't been pushed and the crisis is solved."

Realtors open second franchise office

PLYMOUTH—Century 21-Hartford West, Inc. realtors Ken Dividock and Chuck James have announced the opening of their second Plymouth-Canton Township franchise office.

Their location at 44205 Ford Road, formerly the Gilead Baptist Church, was purchased by the two area residents to further service the needs of the rapidly expanding Canton Township community.

Century 21 is America's largest real estate corporation with over 950 independently owned offices, 40 of which are in metropolitan Detroit.

whether to adopt the program in order to give the directors time to make arrangements.

"Right now the initial cost indication for hiring the directors and clerical help would be $50,000," he said.

The two, Gordon Hill and Malcom McDonald, have worked together in workshops in decentralization planning and for the Ford Foundation. Hill is headmaster of a middle school and McDonald is a vice headmaster.

The districts must make a three year commitment to Hill and McDonald if they decide to implement the program.

According to Supt. John Hoben, the districts might be able to receive reimbursement from the state, county and federal governments.

"And we are thinking of possibly opening the program to teachers from other districts and charging them for the workshops."

Patrol funds cut of three at night. This is possible if the cars are manned by one officer during the day he claims.

However, due to sick leave, vacation and court time, this is not always possible. Admits Pittman, "Sometimes we only have two cars on the road."

The sheriffs department maintains a policy of "selective enforcement" by which they concentrate coverage in areas hardest hit by crime historically. This way, they contend that they are able to do an adequate job.

Pittman claims that the department definitely would like to continue service to the townships. "We have a moral and legal obligation to the people," he explains. Like the townships, he remains apprehensive about the future after Thursday's meeting.

The problem is magnified for Plymouth and Canton because both areas defeated safety millages on Nov. 5. Should they suffer a reduction in service from the sheriff, it is not clear how and if they can bolster police protection.

For now, residents of Canton and Plymouth Townships will have to wait for the subcommittee's report or a court ruling.

PLYMOUTH—Dr. Wendell Hough, of 47249 Stonecrest Dr., acting associate dean of Wayne State's College of Education, has been appointed associate dean for the 1974-75 academic year.

He will be part of a four-man administrative leadership team named by Dean of Education J. Edward Simpkins.

Simpkins said that Hough will be primarily responsible for the development of college-wide programs.

A former teacher in the Ferndale School system, Hough served as assistant superintendent for instruction in the Garden City public schools. Later, while associate professor at Wayne State, he was granted leave to serve as deputy director of the Michigan Ohio Regional Education Laboratories.

Hough was former chairman of Wayne State's doctoral program for curriculum leadership, and has served as a consultant on administrative training to school systems in Rochester, N.Y., Chicago, Ill., Brooklyn, Mich., and over a dozen townships in greater Detroit.

THE CURTAIN GOES UP at 8 p.m. this Thursday in the Plymouth-Salem High School auditorium for this year's senior play, "Victoria's House." This murder mystery by Fred Carmichael has a touch of the occult in it. In this scene, leading characters Neil Bannister (Ben Valchine) and his wife Victoria (Linda Dwyer) get a disapproving glance from Cindy Carmody. Tickets are $1.50 for Thursday through Saturday performances. Curtain time is 8 p.m. on all three nights.

He finds Detroit like Hong Kong

CANTON TOWNSHIP—Living in Detroit is a picnic? Well, not exactly, but if you ask Philip Ng (pronounced un), a student at Henry Ford Community College, it's no worse than home. Hong Kong is home for Ng and it appears that there is a great similarity between that metropolis and Detroit.

Ng, who now lives in Canton Township, has been going to school here for three years, explains: "The transition to America from Hong Kong wasn't too hard. I came here right out of high school, but I had been in the English school system there for five years."

The language proved to be no great problem even though his native tongue, Chinese, has no alphabet.

When he got here in 1971 he enrolled in Cody High on the west side of Detroit where he freshened up his English. Then in the fall of 1973 he enrolled in HFCC where he is now a science major.

Detroit held few surprises for the young man. Crime, dope and murder in the Motor City don't even rank with Hong Kong, he says. "Things were a lot worse in Hong Kong. It was a lot more crowded and the violence in Detroit isn't close to what it is at home," he says.

Ng adds that there is a lot of American influence in Hong Kong. "I'm very westernized myself," he explains. His long hair and Levis suggest that is not far from the truth.

Ng is 21 now, and his goals are not clear but he shows a quiet determination. "I wanted a college education most of all. Over there it would have been too hard. There are fewer schools and the competitive pressure is just too great."

So Ng came to Michigan to stay with his sister Mrs. Leon Douglas, a naturalized citizen. Instead of going to Wayne State University as he had originally intended, he went to Henry Ford where he will finish his two years this spring.

The future? Well Ng isn't too sure. He doesn't want to go back to Hong Kong and he's not positive he wants to stay in the states. He's thinking about attending optometry school in New York but money is becoming a problem.

Ng has financed himself through school up to now, but he can no longer work in the states. The Department of Immigration has started to deny aliens work permits because of the rising unemployment among citizens.

Oh yes, Ng has one other problem since coming to America—his name. It seems that everyone he meets wants to put a vowel in his name. Finally

Ng came up with a solution. "I tell them it's n as in nice and gas in guy. Now all my friends call me nice guy."

No doubt in the future his friends will be calling him nice guy—the optometrist.

Livonia chessmen rank third

By W. W. EDGAR

LIVONIA—Livonia can claim the title of "Chess City, Michigan" and the number three ranking in the country.

The Livonia Chess Club has a membership of 150 and expects it to rise in the near future.

The club meets regularly in the Livonia Senior Citizens Activities Center at the civic center, Farmington near Five Mile.

The club hosted the opening recently of the new West Side League.

LOOKING OVER the boards at the opening league session, Stanley Hamilton, club president, confided that the club draws its members from many areas and all walks of life.

Among members are doctors, lawyers, industrial leaders, shop workers, who even have boards at the places of their employment and many others who are working on masters' degrees at college.

"We have an open membership," Hamilton stated, "and all chess players are welcome. Even those who want to learn the game are invited. We'll find a place for them."

Listed on the membership rolls are three chess masters: Paul Dupuis, Mark Pence and Leslie Simons — along with Dan Togasaki, a Japanese lad who holds the state junior championship.

THE CLUB sponsors the league as part of its activity.

This is considered unusual because most leagues are formed by promoters or directors. But the Livonia club took on the sponsorship of what is known as the West Side League and the league teams meet on the first Thursday of the month.

"The league helps to keep interest at a high pitch," Hamilton stated, "and it is an opportunity for our club to gain additional prestige."

Hamilton also explained that while the club has been going for 12 years, interest in the game started growing when Bobby Fischer won the world championship from Boris Spassky, a Russian, in their publicized title match a few years ago.

"We all watched that series with interest," Hamilton said, "and when Bobby won the victory seemed to lure many young people to the game."

He pointed around the room to the large number of young players engaged in matches.

"THESE YOUNG players are smart," he confided, "and are sharp as can be when seated at the boards."

To keep interest at a high peak, the members engage in "ladder" competition. Under this plan there is a struggle to climb the ladder.

To make it more unusual there are no divisions. This means the better players meet the others in a struggle for points and have what they term a circular top, so no one player is at the head of the list.

Aside from sponsoring league competition, the club also stages special events, the next of which will be Nov. 22 when the two masters—Pence and Simons—take on all comers in a simultaneous match.

Each of the masters will take on 40 players.

Later in the year the club also plans to have Paul Banko, a world master from Hungary, as an honored guest, although no date has been set.

Other officers of the club are: John Cielinski, vice president; Roger K. Beaton, secretary — treasurer, and two members large, Terry Griner, in charge of the West Side League, and Steve Andrews.

Police protection needs re-evaluation

With crime on the rise throughout the country, the voters of Canton Township and the Wayne County Board of Commissioners seem to be turning their backs on the issue.

The Nov. 5 defeat of a public safety millage by township voters and last Thursday's action by the county board to cut the Sheriff's Road Patrol funding by 25 per cent, leads one to believe that crime cannot be a problem in Western Wayne County.

We think just the opposite may be closer to the truth.

Canton Township's population has nearly tripled in the last four years to a staggering total of 27,000 residents with the police protection of one car from the sheriff's department and one officer from the state police during any one given period of time.

Looking at what the FBI considers to be "minimal" standards for police protection in a community, Canton is severely lacking. Those standards suggest one officer per 1,000 population. In Canton's case the figure looks more like one per 5,000 when and if those officers are available.

The sheriff's patrol presently serves seven townships in the county with a staff of 28 men. That means that at best four cars are available at any given time to serve more than 200 square miles, stretching from Brownstown-Township near Flat Rock to Northville Township.

Looking at crime figures for the township over the last three years, anyone can see that increased protection is necessary. The total number of complaints in 1971 totaled 4,135. During the first nine months of this year the total hit 4,517. During this period, there has been no increase in police protection, and if the county board's actions are carried out on Jan. 1 protection will be reduced.

The public safety millage would have cost the average homeowner approximately $60 per year and could have given both added police and fire protection. That $60 is a small price to pay for security and the savings passed along in reduced fire insurance premiums could have cut the actual cost down to much less than the $60 figure.

It's time that Canton residents did some long hard thinking about the protection of their property and their neighborhoods, so that they can look at their community as a place that is not only "nice to bring up a family" but also "secure."

Even if the county does continue to maintain its current level of service to the township for police protection, it leaves Canton residents as potential sitting ducks for crime.

While we can't agree with the county board's proposed cutbacks, maybe their actions will help to awaken Canton's residents to the fact that if they want adequate police protection, they are the ones that are going to have to provide the funding for it.

The Stroller

A memorable assignment

By W. W. EDGAR

It is a rather peculiar thing, but any time a fellow who has been traveling the journalistic trails for any number of years goes out for an evening in a social gathering he immediately becomes the target of all sorts of questions.

It matters not whether doctors, lawyers, engineers or industrial leaders are in the gathering, attention turns to the man who makes his living by placing one word after another in the public prints. He'll be bombarded with such sticklers as "Do you think we're licking inflation?", "Do you think Michigan can beat Ohio State and go to the Rose Bowl?", "Will the Lions make it to the playoffs?", "What's wrong with the Red Wings?" and "Do you think President Ford will run in 1976?"

After a while a fellow gets accustomed to this and takes the questions in stride. But the other evening The Stroller was handed a stickler by an unsuspecting friend.

We had been discussing the topics of the day when this chap turned and asked:

"In your long experience, what was the most unusual assignment you ever had and how did you fare with it?"

This was quite a question, but it didn't take The Stroller long to select the one that stands out in his memory even though it happened almost a half century ago.

It was back in the late '20s, shortly after he arrived in Detroit to join the Free Press sports staff. One evening the editor walked over to his desk and said very calmly, "I want you to cover the Port Huron-Mackinac sailing race next week." He didn't wait for any reaction.

FINE. EXCEPT THAT The Stroller never had seen a large sailboat and the nearest he had ever come to a boat was the old barges on the canal back home. He didn't know a schooner from a yawl or a ketch from a yacht, or even a cat boat.

So the next day he hustled out to the Bayview Yacht Club, sponsor of the race, and learned to identify the various craft.

Came the following Saturday and the start of the race. Through the kindness of Commodore "Gus" Schantz, the big Western States lake cruiser stopped at Port Huron early in the evening and took The Stroller aboard for the ride to the Mackinac Island harbor—site of the finish line.

The Stroller had managed to send his story of the race start to the Free Press and he was content to enjoy the evening on the big boat. But the joy turned to wonderment, then frustration. Sunday afternoon when he suddenly realized he was 200 miles ahead of the boats scattered out there on the lake, and he didn't know which one was leading. What's more, all the families back in Detroit would be concerned about the welfare of their sail-or husbands or boy friends and would depend on the Free Press to keep them posted.

Frustration really set in early afternoon when it came time to write—and with no information. Then, a kindly gent in the hotel lobby suggested that The Stroller rent a speedboat and pay a visit to the keeper of the lighthouse and he might help. No sooner said, than done. And in a short time The Stroller was getting an education on sailing in the lighthouse.

"The wind has gone around the clock," the lighthouse keeper said. "That means that it has been in all directions during the night so no boat was favored and the one that was leading when you last saw them would be leading now."

What a relief! That evening the Free Press carried a banner line on wind conditions on the lakes. The day was saved.

Then came Monday. No boats yet in sight. And The Stroller couldn't write another story about the wind. What to do now?

PONDERING THE "SPOT" he was in, The Stroller walked up the main street on the island and wandered into the race tent that was being set up for the officials.

As he walked in, one of the old sailors said, "If you are from Detroit, here is a telegram for your group."

In desperation The Stroller opened the yellow envelope and read that one of the boats had abandoned the race and was returning home to Detroit.

"Funny thing," the old gent in the tent remarked, "That boat has sailed the Atlantic several times and never has been able to finish this 240-mile race."

What else was needed for a feature story? The Stroller heaved a sigh of relief, wrote about the misfortune of the boat that couldn't sail the lake and the day was saved again.

Late that night—along about midnight—the first boats were in. The race ended, and would you believe it, when The Stroller returned to his desk, the sports editor walked over, congratulated him on the job he had done, and said:

"From now on you are our yachting editor."

Talk about unusual assignments. That was one—and it also had a rather unusual finish.

Letter questions teacher transfer

EDITOR:

I am most concerned about the present problem in the fourth grade at Fiegel Elementary School. There is an excessive number of children in each of the fourth grade classes.

Apparently the school administration decided to regroup four classes of the fourth grade into three.

It seems that this decision was made because a teacher was taking a leave of absence in the second grade, and the administration did not wish to hire a replacement for that teacher. I assume this decision has been made in an attempt to save money. While such a motive is highly commendable it is my belief that such cost cutting efforts should not be made if such jeopardizes the quality of education of our schools.

Moreover it is my understanding that three other elementary schools were faced with similar problems but retained the same number of classroom teachers. If this is true the question then arises, why has Fiegel Elementary been treated differently?

A second question which needs an answer is, "What will happen to the children who are moving into the Fiegel attendance area who would be assigned to a fourth grade class?" If the administration intends on busing these children to another school, that solution is most unsatisfactory to both the children so affected and their families. If, on the other hand, it is the intention of the administration that these new youngsters will be added to the already bulging classrooms at Fiegel, that would be most unacceptable to everyone involved.

It is my opinion that the only viable solution to the class size problem at Fiegel Elementary is to reassign an additional teacher to the fourth grade and reorganize that grade into four classes. In this manner an adequate learning environment will be provided our children.

Antiquing to find hidden 'treasures'

By MILLICENT WORRELL

If you happen to be an antique buff — and who isn't these days — there may be hidden treasures right in your suburban backyard, if you care to look.

Professional dealers feature every conceivable item from soup tureens to massive furniture pieces. Other supply outlets are estate and household sales, auctions, periodic antique shows, barn and yard sales.

There are decorators whose business is not only designing areas and selling ideas but acquiring furniture and accessories that harmonize with a given motif.

Birmingham resident Joan Jolgren of Creative Interiors runs a on-woman operation dedicated to discriminating clients who yearn to exchange ho-hum settings for revitalized creative living.

AN INTERIOR design major, Mrs. Jolgren is a staunch advocate of quality, originality and authenticity.

Her home is her showcase. She has managed to keep it fluid and vibrant to match her personality by filling it with antiques purchased locally as well as objets d'art from Europe and the middle east where she travels extensively.

An English tea table and four Bentwood chairs in her dinette, are transplants from an area dealer.

They are highlighted by an overhanging Tiffany-style lamp in a one-of-a-kind design that is the focal point of the room. A rug splashed with variegated color came from a Northwood Institute auction sale held at the Somerset Inn.

MRS. JOLGREN searches and researches, barterers and bids, decides and creates. Then she comes up with settings like a stained bamboo corner chest accessorized with cast iron lamp and French Provincial wall clock, or a brightened pavilion table touched with clusters of dried floral arrangements.

For the amateur collector there can be personal gratification and a certain adventure in tracking down the unusual for hearth and home.

One Birmingham home owner who has amassed an entire household of elegant pieces thinks there is nothing as exciting as a find at a local estate or home sale.

Ten years of dedicated antiquing, museum-hopping, library research and lectures have prepared her for dressing her home with an enviable selection of originals and adaptations.

IN A CORNER living room setting are a Louis Quatarge-style desk with Windsor chair, samovar, music box, walnut chaise lounge and a fireplace grill circa 1847.

The brass samovar has Russian markings, a removable chimney and catch basin. It was purchased from a local decorator. Both the walnut music box and grill came from estate sales, and the chaise was discovered at a household showing. By removing a flounce and restoring the wood, the chaise was to become a treasure.

The desk, found in a barn at a country estate sale, is the most valuable piece in the home. Papers in a hidden drawer indicate that it is one of only 10 existing masterpieces of Charles Andre Bouille (1642-1732) whose designs epitomize the Louis Quatarge style of inlaid brass woven into slender wood pieces.

An exact replica is owned by Aristotle Onassis and was shown in Time magazine. Final verification of authenticity is currently under consideration at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Memories of Thanksgiving--and turkey!

I remember...when I was a boy of seven in Detroit, anxiously awaiting the day when my grandmother and I would set out on an early morning sojourn for the big city on the DSR's chic Hamilton River line.

We traveled through that maze of soiled brick wall with glass windows ablaze, which reflected the fancy fa-acades of neglected buildings and electric streetcars sizzling about the town. The bonging of the clock, in its vale of years striking noon, could only mean that it was time for lunch, usually at a Kresge counter with my all-time favorite: Apple dumplings with vanilla sauce.

I remember coming home from school on a Wednesday noon, the smell of bread and the scent of cinnamon sugar baking in the oven.

"Hey, Mom," I said, "When I grow up, someday will you show me how to make pate-a-sucree? A dish very common in the Grech household with left over pie dough and sugar."

I REMEMBER the autumn harvest of leaves crisp piled high by my brother Ken into a fortress that I would soon plow through, knowing that I shall have to face the inevitable punishment from that six-foot-one all-American brute.

With all my childhood memories behind, I remember most of all Thanksgiving!

It was snowing that year and all my brothers and sisters were bundled up to motor down to the big parade in our 1936 Ford coupe with a rumble seat to boot. Leaving behind the seductive scent of turkey roasting with fresh apples, pears and onions and, of course, Mom, preparing a very special dinner, for her very special family, in her own special way.

Our house on Prest Street was of modest taste and the rooms were adequate for our family of six plus a cat called Ricky and my dog named Shep. We did not have a fireplace but the old European charm of my parents and the devoted love they had for their children gave off enough warmth and character to our house to last a lifetime.

IT WAS SURE a treat to come back through all the snow that had fallen during the day and transformed our street into a Christmas card of long ago and to see the holiday spread of hot cranberry crumb cakes, sweet potatoes a l'orange, whipped snowy potatoes wedged in creamy fondue butter. Boy, oh boy!

The piece de resistance centered in my Dad's place was roasted to a golden brown, sometimes overdone. But when you are seven going on eight, perfection of the bird isn't very important when pumpkin and mincemeat pie with that new squirm stuff would soon follow. Yes, sir, I remember most of all, Thanksgiving!

TURKEY TIPS:

Raising turkey has become a big business and highly specialized. Most birds are fed on wheat, rice, corn, and soy which is the main reason they cost so much.

Hen turkeys weigh from 10 to 15 pounds. The Tom cock turkeys start at 16 pounds and can weigh up to 50 pounds.

He is too large to have any sort of relationship with a nearby hen so good ole Tom is artificially inseminated, says poultry expert and Michigan distributor Timmy Martin of McInerney-Miller Bros. Turkey poulters are baby birds 18 weeks and under and are not usually considered for the table until they mature into a 22-week-old bird.

Most turkeys are brought into the city frozen. However, if you live near a poultry market and are willing to spend a few more cents for a fresh one, certainly it will be to your advantage, even though the frozen birds have come a long way in taste and texture.

Color of skin should be off-white. Roasting time: 10-15 pounds, 300 degrees, 20 minutes to a pound. 15-18 pounds, 300 degrees, 18 minutes to a pound.

18-20 pounds, 300 degrees, 15 minutes to a pound.

20-24 pounds, 300 degrees, 13 minutes to a pound.

METHOD:

Thaw and season with seasoned salt inside and outside. Stuff with your favorite dressing, then secure entrance in any fashion you so desire.

Place turkey in a shallow pan that has apples, white onions and pears (fresh) all cut up in large pieces. This prevents the bird from burning on the bottom and releases moisture and lots of flavor.

Place in the oven for desired baking time. The first half hour should be dry. Then add fondue butter (melted) and baste well. Continue this every half hour using the drippings until the turkey is done. Let the turkey sit 20 minutes before carving.

LA SAUCE

Remove bird from roasting pan, transfer fruit and drippings to a heavy sauce pan and whip to a puree. Add enough flour to absorb oil. It won't take much, a tablespoonful or so.

Add warm water. Boil for a few minutes until sauce thickens to a consistency of whipping cream unwhipped. Strain into another heavy pot, put on simmer, add a little caramel color. In a small bowl add: 1 egg yolk, 1/2 cup sour cream, 3 jiggers of brandy, stir. Then add 1/4 part hot mixture to liaison (a very chic term for gastronomy) and whip until smooth. Then pour into remaining hot liquid called a sauce.

Please do not call it 'gravy'. It took too much of your time and deserves much more. Just before serving, whip 4 tablespoons sweet butter into La Sauce.

Roast turkey is piece de resistance of traditional Thanksgiving Day dinner

Getting Around

By ETHEL SIMMONS

From 'Stouffer's to Hefner's

Stouffer's, whose tradition is good home cooking like you wish your mother used to make (or maybe she did), has another new spot.

This one is called Eden Glen, and the Stouffer's is played down in the name. But it's Stouffer's all the way, with appetite-pleasing foods that give you a cozy feeling inside.

Eden Glen is just doors away from luxury shopping at Somerset Mall in suburban Troy, boosted as "The City of Tomorrow—Today."

THE RESTAURANT has a sophisticated setting, with trees and skylights. Its menu is hearty, and there's a salad bar paired with a your-choice-of bread bar.

At Eden Glen's recent opening, tasty miniatures previewed specialties on the luncheon menu—everything from oysters Rockefeller to Steak a la Maison with Cognac Mustard Sauce to Chocolate Souffle with Ice Cream Sauce.

Other entrees at the picturesque dining spot, which has been drawing big crowds, range from Crabmeat Troy to Veal Piccata.

THE STOUTER'S family started in Cleveland and is going especially strong there. On a weekend trip to Cleveland, following the opening of Eden Glen, I found myself at three different Stouffer's, among other spots.

These included Pier W in Lakewood, designed to simulate a ship and overlooking Lake Erie; Stouffer's in suburban Shaker Heights where the shopping center concept was born (there's a great cocktail lounge where the friendly bartender will tell you about his daughter who is starring in the Cleveland production of "Jacques Brel Is Alive and Well and Living in Paris"); and Top of the Town, a skyscraper view of the City of Cleveland or of the shipping, rail transport and city airport.

THE LAST FEW weeks have also been big ones for prospective playboys and gals. Actually, the crowds at cocktail parties for both the Penthouse-Viva Leisure Club and the new Playboy Club seemed

Penthouse Pet Karen Sather attended kick-off for Penthouse/Viva Leisure Club

Hugh Hefner and a Bunny friend at opening of Playboy Club in Detroit conservative, like you and me (or aren't you that way?)

The Penthouse Viva Leisure Club, headquartered in suburban Southfield, kicked off its new social club on the leased first floor of the old Fisher mansion on Boston Boulevard in Detroit.

There was a band and a Penthouse Pet who was young, smart and pretty. The bachelors who lived upstairs and had rented the mansion to Penthouse-Viva magazines, came down to join the party and talk about the history of the mansion.

The architect, Albert Kahn, is the same who did the Fisher Building, and the interior bears a resemblance in gilt and wood. The bachelor who owns the house, originally built by one of the General Motors Fisher Brothers, first heard about it from a daughter of the auto family he was dating.

PENTHOUSE AND Viva are magazines with lots of frank talk and nudity, Penthouse rivaling Playboy and Viva topping the new assortment of under-the-counter magazines for women.

The Penthouse/Viva Leisure Club promises "exciting weekend junkets, get acquainted parties and such, like happenings with an ever-compatible mix of men and women."

The single membership of $25 or double membership of $32 includes a regular newsletter of swinging activities for members of the new Michigan club, as well as other new clubs in Ohio and Ontario and such established ones as in New York and London.

IT WAS ONLY a few weeks later when Playboy magazine opened its new Detroit club on James Couzens near Eight Mile. There was a lull for a few years when the East Jefferson Club closed, and there was no place for Playboys to go, except to other towns like the Chicago headquarters.

Hugh Hefner turned out for the opening, looking less fearsome than his pictures, softer features, longer hair and shorter stature.

Bunnies were everywhere, in solid and new vibrant-patterned costumes. They still wear bunny ears, lots of cleavage, bunny tails and spike heels.

Woman's libbers may be disappointed, but bunnies get tipped in bills by big spenders and tuck the loot down their bras.

The new club sets a mood of intrigue, and that's not all bad. There are comfy sofas, mirrors, a combo to listen to, food and drink.

Proving fun is where you find it.

Montreal—what has it got Detroit hasn't?

By PATRICIA BEACH SMITH

Detroiters should feel at home in Montreal. After all, both cities were founded by Frenchmen, both are located on the banks of great rivers and each has a population of 3.5 million or so.

There the similarities end.

While Detroit has tried and tried to become the host of the Olympic Games, it has never succeeded. Montreal has and will host them in 1976, an event all Canada is gearing up for.

Montreal also has what Detroit probably should have — an efficient mass transit system. Called the Metro after Paris' famous system, it was spurred into existence with the announcement that Montreal would be host to a world's fair — "Expo '67."

(TWENTY-SIX Expo pavilions remain open weekends from May 4 and then daily from June 15 through Labor Day.)

The Metro is a story in itself. It is a 16.1-mile system with 26 stations. The City of Paris gave Mon-treil a gift of one of its famous wrought iron art nouveau Metro entrances for one station.

Plans for expansion will stretch its length to 42 miles.

Shopping-hungry visitors and natives have 500 boutiques and three major department stores from which to choose — and all are accessible from the Metro. So shopping sprees in the dead of winter (and Montreal winters get frigid) can be a warm experience.

THERE IS a splendid contrast between the old and the new in Montreal. While there are your modern Monsieur Mufflers and Le Petite Colonels (the Kentucky Fried version . . .), there are also places where a man can have an entire wardrobe made to order for him and the ladies can have underwear similarly made to order.

Architecturally speaking, the time between the old and the new serves as one of the best living descriptions of the development of the art since the city was founded in 1642.

Decidedly French, the early architecture appears charming and geared to slow and elegant caleche (carriage) life. (Seen throughout the city, these horse-drawn carriages can be rented for about $8 an hour.)

Oldest building in the city is the Sulpician Seminary on the Place d'Armes.

ALSO THERE is a magnificent church, Notre Dame de Bon Secours, on the same square. Still in the old city is the Place Jacques Cartier, a section noted for its intimate restaurants.

Les Ramparts, one of the oldest and most famous in the district, is named for the building in which it is housed.

Also interestingly situated is the restaurant Le Festin du Gouverneur in the old fort on Ile Sainte-Helene (the island named for Champlain's wife.)

Aperitifs are served in the fort's parade grounds after which guests are led into a grand stone hall for dinner and singing 1691 style.

DURING THE planning of Expo, it became apparent that the

The old contrasts with the new in downtown Montreal.

City of Montreal would need an official reception hall and restaurant.

It acquired the Helene-de-Champlain restaurant, also on Ile Sainte-Helene, and turned it into a culinary experience for all the foreign visitors who arrived during the Expo year.

The restaurant is open to the public now. Diners are greeted by costumed servers, priceless contemporary and antique Aubusson tapestries and an antique armoire used as a closet for coats.

IN A MORE contemporary vein, the architectural excellence of the Radio-Canada complex provides interesting contrast to the rest of the city.

Situated on 25 acres of land, it has a 23-story hexagonal office tower with pods of studios in a circle surrounding it.

While two languages, French and English, are the official languages of Montreal, Radio-Canada speaks in 14 different tongues.

All the people who speak these languages live around or near Mont Royal, the high hill from which the city derives its name.

THE PARK on Mont Royal was designed by Frederick Law Olmsted, the man who designed New York's Central Park. From the standpoint of landscape architecture it is wonderful, if you don't have acrophobia.

The tallest building in Montreal is the Stock Exchange which stands 50 stories. Besides the structure, one of the main attractions is its four-story $225,000 chandelier.

A 'good cook' must experiment, says chef

By ETHEL SIMMONS

Are you a good cook? You probably won't be until you learn to experiment.

Michael James, a professional chef from San Francisco, says, "Cooking can be as simple or complicated as you want it to be. At some point you have to try something new."

"What I teach is not being reliant on recipes. I never teach by a recipe. If the spinach is bad, and there's a good buy on artichokes, use that to stuff the chicken."

The soft-spoken James, who has cooked as assistant to the great French chef Simone (Simca) Beck, believes, "When you've had disasters and successes you can branch out. A great talent to develop is not panicking when you have a disaster. Every chef does. That's how some great dishes come about."

JAMES AND his associate, Billy Cross, were in metropolitan Detroit for two weeks recently teaching sessions of week-long "dinner classes."

"You make a dinner and serve with a California wine," James explains the course.

The classes were held in an apartment kitchen in one of the twin North Park Towers in Southfield. The idea for the classes was suggested by a hairdresser who loaned her apartment.

She was the hairdresser in residence last month during sessions offered by Michael James' Cooks in California's wine country.

LOOKING BACK, James recalls, "This in the Napa Valley was the most lavish cooking school ever held. It was a serious cooking school—cooking, living, eating together."

Simca, who was in retirement, came to teach.

"No one believed it would work," says James. "People came from all over. Texas and Connecticut and Detroit (including Carol Worsley from Birmingham)."

The recent cooking school here was adapted from the California classes.

James says he teaches a lot of Simca's cooking.

SOME OF THE dishes prepared in class were a cold chicken dish molded in lemon aspic, parsley boiled and stuffed chicken en broche. "Simca's glorious chocolate mousse called the Marquise," her famous mayonnaise without egg—a low-cholesterol mayonnaise, potatoes baked in clarified butter, potatoes Anna, a hot lemon soufflé with cognac for dessert, and a 30-second omelet.

A MESSAGE IN THE PUBLIC INTEREST:

The following memo sent to the loan officers of Michigan National Bank of Detroit from the Office of its President, George A. Pierson is of such general importance as to command publication.

November 15, 1974

FROM: George A. Pierson, President
TO: All Loan Officers and Managers
SUBJECT: Reduced Prime Rate

We have again reduced the prime rate. Starting November 18, it will be 10%, the lowest in the Nation. As you know, as early as September 16 when the nation's bank prime rate was 12%, Michigan National Bank of Detroit made the drastic move to drop the prime a full point which is unprecedented in recent bank history.

In the two months that have elapsed we have reduced the prime 2%, which changes took place on October 16 when we went down to 10-3/4%; November 11th to 10-1/2% and now 10%.

Although we do not relish sacrificing interest income with such decisive reductions, it is our basic objective to push for reduced interest rates as a positive action to effect a turnabout in present recessionary economic pressures.

Our customers will benefit by a reduced cost for borrowed funds and it is our belief that they will carry this savings to the next level. The consumer, the ultimate benefactor, hopefully will respond to the lower prices with increased purchases and ultimately this will translate itself into added jobs.

It is our feeling that before December 31st the prime should be out of the two figure range and continue its slide to approximately 8% by June 1975.

This has been the Bank's goal since mid-September when it became apparent that anti-inflationary activity was cooling the economy too fast. We feel the banks hold the catalytic power to support recovery if they are willing to "bite the bullet" and accept the first loss of income and again make borrowing attractive to stimulate the factors of production.

A fireman's lot may be a domestic one

BY SHERRY KAHAN

The family experts who these days are telling men there's nothing un-masculine about household tasks must realize our firemen are way ahead of their time.

For the guys who can leap off a fire engine while it's still moving are the very ones who regularly cook, clean and wash dishes at the fire station.

And when they've roared out of the station—in less than 60 seconds—and extinguished the blaze, it's not unusual to them to sit around and discuss their favorite recipes.

ELOQUENT IN SIMPLICITY is the way you'd describe those recipes. None of the teaspoon and a half of parsley powder stuff for these men.

Ask them about their favorite stew and they tell you they "put in about two or three dollars' worth of ground chuck" and then "simmer until eaten up."

Their food is hearty and simple, and sometimes the cook is subject to heartbreak when the fire bell rings and the diners spring from the table, leaving the meal to grow cold.

"THE HOUSEKEEPING isn't so bad because everybody joins in," said Jim Vawter of the Redford Township Fire Department, who four years ago gave up working as a licensed electrician to become a fireman.

Vawter is a pipeman who helps carry the hose to the fire. He became a fireman because "I wanted to do something I liked."

"My favorite housekeeping job is cooking," he said. "I'm one of the two cooks here. We regard these jobs as part of the daily duty. They teach you to respect your firehouse."

Ed McVicar, for five years a fireman for the Redford department, puts kitchen duty at the bottom of his list of favorite jobs.

"But that doesn't include cooking." What he doesn't care for is the regular Tuesday job of cleaning the kitchen, taking apart the stove and cleaning the oven.

"We also take everything out of the refrigerator. Dishwashing can be tough because six or seven people eat here. The job I like best is cleaning the engine room floor."

"But we don't have any trouble with anyone about these jobs," he noted. "Nobody here looks on housekeeping as a woman's task."

EVERYBODY COOKS in the central station of the Westland Fire Department, even CPT Warren Robinson, who has been 30 years on the job. In mentioning his years of service the captain added, "I have been married 33 years but have lived with my wife only 15 years."

This statement proved to be a fireman joke based on the fireman's work schedule of 24 hours on duty followed by 24 hours off, followed by 24 on duty, and then three or four days off duty, depending on the department.

Robinson thinks 99 per cent of the firemen like this one-day off and one-day on schedule. "Most families find they can make it. In fact, in all the years I've been here, there haven't been more than three men who have left because of the schedule."

Nor does he think the firemen mind housekeeping chores.

"Every day the men make up their own beds with their own sheets and blankets. The following morning they strip down the bed to make way for the next man."

CHIEF ROBINSON noted there had been some inquiries from women lately about becoming fireman.

"I read where three women in New York fire departments complained about the combined sleeping quarters. But the judge told them they knew the deal when they started and would have to live with it."

"My favorite task is watching the other guys work," he laughed, adding a minute later that while firemen josh around a lot "we get very serious when the phone rings."

Firehouse stew plus five is one of the recipes favored by Robinson when he takes his turn at the stove.

"There is never any left, but then there's not much left whatever is cooked."

THE WESTLAND FIREMAN, coming on duty in the morning, gather around the kitchen table to discuss food plans for the day.

"A bowl of soup and a sandwich is the usual thing for lunch," the captain said.

The grocery shopping is done every day, with the fireman who does the honors keeping in touch with the station by walkie-talkie.

That may explain a mystery for employees of supermarkets near fire stations, not only in Westland but in other communities.

"Many a time," said Capt. Robinson, "a fireman has had to leave the grocery cart with the groceries in it. When he gets a call on the walkie-talkie, he has to run off to the fire, even though this means leaving a gallon of ice cream melting in the cart."

AT THE LIVONIA firehouse on Farmington Road, Tom Tokar is the main cook for a month at a time. He said the various firehouses in Livonia have reputations for specializing in different kinds of cooking.

"At headquarters there are the hamburger experts, and at Station Six they make a lot of kielbasa, stuffed peppers and pigs in blankets."

Tokar, who works on the emergency rescue truck, said "some days I feel like going out and making a big meal."

"We have two ragout and noodle experts here—Denny James and Bob Rynicki. They make the ragout and we put it on anything we have left in the refrigerator."

"We pay in $3 a day for food per man. Somedays you eat good and sometimes average, depending on the manpower. If you have six people eating then you have more money to work with."

According to Tokar the junior man at the station has it the toughest as far as housekeeping goes.

"He's got to make the morning coffee, put up the flag, clean the lavatory and do dishes at noon and night, take the flag down and clean up the lounge."

TOM KEITH, at the same station thinks there is nothing to cleaning the refrigerator. "We just take out the food and clean it up," he said.

"That's how we find our leftovers," said Tokar.

The two men also reported an occasional lapse into kitchen horseplay. It turns out the men who frequently deal with water in their working hours sometimes resort to pouring water on each other and chasing each other around the kitchen.

One of the favorite meals of the group is Tom Keith's meatloaf. They also enjoy a special hamburger called a ghoulerberger by Tokar.

Made by the "Gold Dust twins," (James and Rynicki), the ghoulerberger is a summer day treat cooked outdoors which is a meal in itself. It consists of a half a pound of hamburger with a big slice of onion.

"It takes four hands to handle a ghoulerberger," claimed Tokar, which may account for its name.

As for the other housekeeping duties around the firehouse, from washing windows inside and out to cleaning all the apparatus, it is all part of the job to both Keith and Tokar.

"It's what you're getting paid for," said Tokar, "and it helps to make the day go fast."

OUTSIDE THE GARDEN CITY Fire Department, tomatoes, beans, corn and peppers are flourished last summer in a garden maintained by the firemen.

"You should have come when we were canning," said Robert Lepak, who has been with the department a little more than a year. "We put up 41 quarts of tomatoes and three quarts of tomato juice."

Jerry Mellon added: "We put 20 bags of our corn into the freezer and Chuck Robertson put in 10 bags of green peppers. We still have more tomatoes. Today I'm going to use some of the beans in bean soup."

Mellon said they try to keep their menus simple "because around here the cook has to leave on fire and rescue calls."

The Garden City men receive a food allowance and chip in if necessary.

"HOUSEWORK IS PART of the job and we accept it," said Richard Sajewski, who added that "it is a fantastic job — the best in the world."

"It is exciting and educational. We learn about people, everyday living, and communication."

"We hate to do dishes around here but we do them," said Lee Ashley, on his way out with a bag of garbage. "I like to cook," he declared. "I make stuffed cabbage, pork chops and chipped beef on toast."

"We eat pretty simply," said Sajewski. "Sometime on somebody's birthday we plan a fancy dinner. But we are often called out in the middle of it."

Ashley believes "fires seem to know when we are cooking steaks because we often get interrupted."

Sajewski pointed out he dislikes stripping floors and waxing them but likes cutting grass. Ashley was not exactly wild about window washing. But both were proud of the looks of their kitchen.

"Housewives are usually impressed when they come in," said Ashley.

LT. PAUL SANDERS, who for 19 years has worked for the Plymouth Fire Department, confessed he was a failure as a window washer.

"I always streaked the windows," he said. "However, I liked the cooking — I cook quite a lot at home."

He thought the men didn't much mind their household chores.

"They complain a little but I always said that when a guy bitches, he's happy. When he doesn't, he isn't."

The men at Station One live in quarters attached to Plymouth City Hall. There, in addition to the big room for the pumper, the ladder truck and the emergency truck, there is a room for sleeping and another for cooking and eating.

BOB DEGAN, official cook for that Plymouth firehouse, likes his job and might be a real gourmet cook except for an unfortunate incident he'll describe at the drop of a firehat.

Seems he decided to make bread, and had the dough mixed and rising in a pan on top of the stove when a general alarm sounded.

When our promising chef returned, his dough had overflowed its pan and was dripping noisily onto the warm stove.

And in the doorway stood members of the Plymouth police department, housed in the same building, who had heard the strange sounds. They had come with guns because they were sure some strange animal was loose in the building.

Mary Ann Orr married

Mary Ann Orr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Orr of Bristol Drive, Livonia, exchanged nuptial vows with Philip L. McAlear of Naperville, Ill., in a recent ceremony in St. Aidan Catholic Church, Livonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh P. McAlear of Peoria, Ill., are the bridegroom's parents.

The Rev. Lawrence B. Schumm heard the couple's vows, and the bride's father gave her in marriage.

She wore a white organza gown with high collar and long sleeves and carried a cascade of white roses, blue miniature carnations, baby's breath and ivy.

Four attendants wore powder blue organza dresses with white lace bibs and carried blue daisies, white carnations and baby's breath.

Mychele Dagenals of Miami, Fla., was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Karen Orr of Livonia, sister of the bride, Phyllis Morrow of Atlanta, Ga., and Karen Mifsud of West Bloomfield.

Craig Dupuy of Tampa was best man. Seating the guests were Capt. Hugh McAlear of Fort Sam Houston, Texas, brother of the bridegroom, Robert Albers of LaPrairie, Ill., brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and James Palmer of Tampa.

Special candles were made for the wedding by the bridegroom's mother, who recently was honored by the International Guild of Candle Artisans.

The reception was held in the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth and the couple went to Seal Harbor, Maine, for their honeymoon.

The bride, a 1971 graduate of Our Lady of Mercy High School, attended the University of South Florida and has been a stewardess for Delta Airlines.

Her husband graduated from the University of South Florida and works for General Motors Corp. in Chicago. They plan to live in Naperville.

MR. AND MRS. PHILIP L. McALEAR (Mary Ann Orr)

Little-Minich

Mr. and Mrs. Russell J. Little of Lansing, announce the engagement of their daughter, Judy, to Michael E. Minich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Minich of Cranston Avenue, Livonia. The bride-elect will graduate in December from Michigan State University. Her fiancé, a 1970 graduate of Bentley High School, graduated this year from MSU, where he was affiliated with Alpha Kappa Psi fraternity. He is employed by Cadillac division of General Motors Corp. They plan an April wedding.

Women's club plans dinner

Janet LaLonde, teacher at Volney Smith School in Redford Union district, will speak at a dinner meeting Tuesday, Nov. 19 of the Oak Branch Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association at Topinka's Country House, 24010 W. Seven Mile, Detroit.

Art Moore, real estate developer, will also address the group on recent growth in real estate.

AAUW panel will discuss prison women

"Women to Women — A Program about Women in Prison" will be discussed by a panel of members of the American Association of University Women, who are volunteers at the Detroit House of Correction, Tuesday, Nov. 19 at 8 p.m. in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Five Mile west of Inkster, Livonia.

Members of both the Plymouth and Livonia AAUW branches will speak on their work in the "Lifelines Project" in DeHoCo.

'Two Gentlemen' offers basic but amusing Shakespearian play

By MARILYN FITCHETT

To love or not to love, that's the question Shakespeare poses in his whimsical comedy, "The Two Gentlemen of Verona," presented by the National Shakespeare Company (NSC) as a part of Schoolcraft College's Cultural and Public Affairs Series.

For the audience it was a question of what actors were portraying Shakespeare's starstruck lovers as a printer's deadline left the viewers without a program.

While certainly not one of Shakespeare's best, Two Gentlemen offers the audience, who may not be well versed in the Bard, the chance to see why his work has lasted through the years.

As usual the plot is complicated as the tale of two friends, Proteus and Valentine, one of who embraces love and the other who rejects it.

Not only did NSC offer the audience one of the basic Shakespeare comedies but gave it quite a lesson on Shakespearean acting. And at the same time threw in for good measure a few of the more modern techniques from slapstick to melodrama.

S. Lockhart Fryer gave us a Proteus who was a mellow lover and a cunning betrayer of friendship while Mark Blum offered a skillful rendition of Valentine, the late-blooming lover.

Two Gentlemen is a perfect play for offering some of the history behind Shakespeare's writing. The NCS stuck with Shakespeare with the early scenes intended to amuse the groundlings and maintained a script of double meanings, a classic Shakespeare invention.

Actors doubled as propmen and the Bard himself sat on stage to signal the entrance of actors and the changes of scene. Perhaps the biggest change NCS offered us was in delivering a limp-wristed lover of Silvia in the person of Ronald Klein portraying Thurio.

For more serious Shakespeare you may want to travel to Stratford but for an introduction which touched all the bases catching the NCS is well worth the price.

La Leche League of Plymouth-Northville and Livonia will discuss "The Family and the Breastfed Baby" in a meeting Thursday, Nov. 21 in Newburg United Methodist Church, 36500 Ann Arbor Trail, Livonia.

This is the third in the group's current series of meetings. All women who are expecting or nursing babies are invited and babies are welcome. For more information call Kathy Nunez, Garling Drive, Plymouth.

Decorations will be topic

Mrs. Harold Stavers will speak on holiday decorations at the regular meeting Tuesday, Nov. 19 of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, Inc. in St. Andrews Episcopal Church, 16360 Hubbard, Livonia. The program, which is also being sponsored by the Livonia City Woman's Club, will begin at 1 p.m.

Money course will be held at Thurston

A five-week course titled "Money Mystique" will begin Wednesday, Nov. 20 at Thurston High School, Schoolcraft and Beech Daly, Redford Township.

Sponsored by the Redford adult education department, the programs will be held from 7-9 p.m. and will concern the most effective use of money—stock market vs. real estate, bank interest vs. corporate bonds, US series "E" bonds vs. treasury bonds and other topics.

Madonna staff at workshop

Mrs. Noreen O'Neill, director of the Madonna College department of nursing, and Sister M. Humilitas, professor of nursing at Madonna, recently participated in a four-day workshop for nursing educators sponsored by the Council of Baccalaureate and Higher Degree Programs of the National League of Nursing.

Mrs. O'Neill, who was named director of the Madonna department in July, currently is directing an evaluation of the philosophy and goals of the nursing department, and involving the total faculty in a redesigning of the curriculum.

Sister Humilitas works with registered nurses and associate degree graduates who are working toward the baccalaureate degree in nursing.

Engineers command top jobs

Among May 1974 University of Michigan-Dearborn graduates engineers continue to command the most job offers and the largest salaries, according to a recent UM-D survey.

Engineers received an average salary offer of $12,287 per year, while business administration graduates received an average of $10,753 and liberal arts grads, $10,400.

Electrical engineers report the highest average offer of $12,688. This reflects a change from December 1973 figures which show mechanical engineers receiving the highest average offering of $12,240.

For 1974 mechanical engineers, the average is $12,120, and industrial and systems engineers report an average of $12,000.

AVERAGE SALARIES offered to 1974 graduates in all fields are up over those offered in 1973.

December 1973 engineering graduates were offered an overall average of $11,718; business administration, $10,401 and liberal arts, $10,400.

UM-D graduates compare favorably in terms of salary with college students across the nation. The 1973-74 national average for engineering is $11,863; for business administration, $9,980 and for liberal arts, $9,372.

OU offers real estate review class

A one-day real estate license review course is being offered by Oakland University's (OU) Division of Continuing Education in the Lansing Civic Auditorium.

The review runs from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Dec. 2 for salespersons and on Dec. 3 for brokers. The examinations are given on the following day for each group.

Taught by real estate faculty experienced in license training, the classes cover legal factors, finance, appraising, background of real estate license law and other topics.

Enrollees previously must have taken an approved basic real estate course.

While tuition is payable at the door the day of the reviews, advanced registration is requested by calling the Division of Continuing Education at OU in Rochester.

OU does not guarantee enrollees will pass the state examinations. Any enrollee who fails to pass may repeat the review in January at no charge.

"WE'RE ON THE ENERGY TEAM!"

"As an elected official, I'm working to convince the people in my area we'll benefit from oil drilling and a new refinery near here."

Drilling operations and refineries in new areas can help everyone. They'll help increase much-needed domestic energy supplies, bring many refined petroleum products closer to consumers to help reduce costs, and add to the local economy.

"I'm working to make sure that oil industry exploration and development won't damage the environment while helping the energy situation."

The environmental scientist is an important man in the oil industry today. The industry is going to have to find and produce twice as much oil and gas in the next 15 years as it did in the past 15. It's his job to see that oil companies meet or surpass reasonable environmental standards in the process.

A lot of people are working to solve the energy problem. It's a big job that needs the best efforts of all of us.

Cagers ready for districts

Stevenson gals win 14th

Stevenson's gal cagers are just one step away from carrying a perfect mark into state tourney action.

Liz Embree's Spartan crew stretched its unbeaten slate to 14 in wins over Redford Union, Walled Lake Central, Bentley and Milford Lakeland.

The latest conquest over Milford, 65-44, wrapped up the Inter-Lakes championship for Stevenson, a title the Spartan gals have never relinquished in four years.

Stevenson now has one game remaining before jumping into district play.

The Spartan gals host Ann Arbor Huron tomorrow (Tuesday) with the junior varsity game starting at 6:30 p.m.

Then comes the districts at Stevenson High and it will be Churchill against host Stevenson in the first game on Thursday, Nov. 21, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Friday night action has Redford Union against Franklin at 6:30 p.m. and Bentley against the victor of Stevenson - Churchill at 8 p.m.

The winners of Friday night's play will meet in the district finals at 7:45 p.m. on Monday, Nov. 25.

The 65-44 victory over Milford Lakeland wrapped up the league title with a 6-0 mark.

It was 26-6 Stevenson after one quarter and 39-20 at the half. Lori Hyman was high scorer for Stevenson with 19 points followed by Jeri Isenhardt with 12 and Sue Shebber with 10.

The win over city rival Bentley saw Stevenson walk away with a 64-26 one-sided affair. Sharon Solack popped in 18 points and Miss Hyman 14.

Redford Union suffered its second defeat in the non-league Stevenson clash, 60-50. RU now sports an overall 13-2 mark.

Stevenson led at the end of eight minutes, 11-8 but fell behind at the half, 32-28, and still trailed after three quarters, 43-41.

The Spartans started going to the bucket the final eight minutes and outscored RU, 19-7, in the last quarter. Isenhardt led Stevenson with 29 points and Hyman added 19 with 11 of those coming in the last eight minutes.

High scorer for RU was Linda Kosovac with 16 who hit on 12 of 15 losses from the free throw line. Amy Gierak had 15 for RU.

Stevenson's other loop victory came against Walled Lake Central, 71-36. Isenhardt scored 18, Hyman 17 and Solack 14. It was 20-6 after one quarter, 32-12 at the half and 52-21 with eight minutes remaining.

'Our Eddie' makes Hall of Fame

W.W. Edgar, dean of the editorial staff of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, will receive a birthday present Wednesday... one day after his 77th celebration but it could well be one of the happiest moments of his lengthy newspaper career.

"Eddie" is one of three residents of the circulation area of the Observer & Eccentric who will be inducted into the Michigan Amateur Hall of Fame Wednesday in a dinner presentation program at the Warren Chateau, 6015 E. 10 Mile Road in Warren.

A total of 24, representing 14 sports, will be taken into the Hall of Fame. The list is headed by the late H.G. Salinger, longtime sports editor of the Detroit News.

The others from the Observer & Eccentric area are: Byron Krieger of Southfield and Michael Ilitch of Bloomfield Hills.

Edgar, who carries card No. 1 in the Michigan chapter of the Baseball Writers of America, was sports editor of the Free Press and started that newspaper's track and field program and the Golden Gloves boxing tournaments that developed Joe Louis in the early '30s.

Later, as Michigan moderator of bowling, Edgar inaugurated a high school and junior bowling program that since has spread across the nation.

Ilitch was best known for his promotion and sponsorship of amateur baseball, softball, handball and hockey activities.

Krieger, a high ranking official in the district offices of the Internal Revenue Service, was long one of the outstanding fencers in the midwest. He was a member of the 1952 U.S. Olympic team and is honored for his numerous victories in 20 years of competition as a player and coach.

Byron was a member of the 1957 national fencing championship team and has won 34 national and state titles during his long career.

Charley Justice of Detroit, generally considered the brightest star in local softball history and one of the all-time national greats, was slated for induction but died last week at his home after a long illness.

Others scheduled for honors are: the late James Standish Jr. and Charles Kocsis of Royal Oak, in golf; Mary Hernando of St. Clair Shores, and Edward and Inez Frazier of Detroit, for tennis; Olga Madar, Detroit, for her contributions to softball; Dave Sayne of Allen Park, softball.

Others are Doris Travani Mulligan, Detroit, in cycling; Clair Young, Detroit, cycling; Ollie Craven, Flint, bowling; Chuck Burns, Detroit, table tennis; Al Arbury, Grosse Pointe Park, rowing, Nap Ross, Westland, and the late Frank Palmara of Wyandotte, baseball; the late John Short and John Colin Snedden, Detroit, lawn bowling; James, Tennant, Wyandotte, water polo; and Tom Syme, Warren, soccer.

Northville fights Shirley on dates

Making good on his threat to take Racing Commissioner Leo Shirley to court because he failed to give Northville Downs any summer harness racing dates in 1975, John J. Carlo, executive manager of the track, and Northville Downs has filed suit in the Michigan Court of Appeals in Lansing seeking an order for a summer meeting next year.

In announcing the harness racing dates in mid-October, Shirley awarded the much sought summer nights to Hazel Park and Wolverine Raceray and gave Northville Downs 83 nights in the winter beginning on Jan. 1.

The suit, filed by Arthur G. Brauer, a Detroit attorney acting for Northville Downs, charges the commissioner was arbitrary and unreasonable in not allotting summer dates to the Downs.

THE PETITION and brief alleged there are substantial reasons why Northville should have 54 nights of summer racing. It further charged the reason given by the commissioner for eliminating summer dates to the suburban half-mile plant is not sufficient to justify his decision.

The suit points out that Northville Downs pioneered night pari-mutuel betting harness racing in 1944 and has a tradition of 30 years of summer racing. It is an established race track licensee with the right to equal consideration by the commissioner.

Northville Downs charges the commissioner arbitrarily reduced its summer dates from 54 to 36 in 1971, then down to 24 in 1974 and now to zero in 1975. It charges such action constitutes a piecemeal and now complete revocation of Northville's race meet license.

THE SUIT claims the commissioner failed to consider the $9.5 million investment in the track or the recently completed $3.5 million improvement program or the financial damage that will result to Northville Downs and the City of Northville if the commissioner's action is allowed to stand.

It says that meetings between Northville Downs and the commissioner and others in 1968, resulted in the multi-million dollar expansion program which included a costly air conditioning unit for the clubhouse and grandstand. It states the commissioner not only knew of the expansion program but urged and encouraged it—even requested it—and promised not to alter Northville's 54 summer dates if the expansion plans were carried out.

The suit charges that in carrying out his desire to race Hazel Park and Wolverine Raceway back-to-back in the summer, the commissioner is unreasonably and unnecessarily damaging Northville Downs.

It also challenges the commissioner's announcement that the elimination of Northville Downs from summer dates was commanded by a 1974 legislative act. Northville says the same act was passed last year (1973) and declared unconstitutional by Attorney General Frank Kelley and this new act is not different and will also be found illegal.

Brauer indicated the City of Northville will be asking the court for permission to file a brief in support of the Northville Downs law suit.

POISED AT THE FREE THROW LINE in girls' basketball competition for unbeaten Stevenson High is Lori Hyman who has pumped in 205 points thus far in the Spartan's 14-0 season. (Staff photo)

In The Pocket

By W.W. EDGAR

This is a big week for Mary Mchasi, the Livonia school teacher who currently is wearing the crown as Queen of metropolitan Detroit bowlers.

In quest of the highest honor available, she will be in Bogota, Columbia, South America, to bid for the world championship against pin spillers from six other countries.

She won the right to make the title bid two years ago when she finished high in the all-events standings in the annual Women's International Bowling Congress tournament and was supposed to have made her bid a year ago.

Delay in the installation of the lanes and international government red tape set the event back three times. Now, it is set to open on Monday and Mary is one of the favorites to take top honors.

It will be a new experience for her, too, as the big event will be held under both American and European rules.

The time honored American plan is to bowl on alternate lanes in each event. The European plan has two versions. In one all bowling is done on the same lane. In the other the first five frames are bowled on one lane and the last five frames on the adjoining lane.

The women's portion of the world tournament will feature four events. These include a five player team event with six games bowled American style in a pair of three game blocks. The next is a four player team event with six consecutive games bowled European style. Following that will be a doubles affair with six games bowled European style.

After these 18 games, the 24 women who have the highest total scores will roll an additional six games. European style to determine the women's all-events title. The winner will be the one with the highest pinfall over the 24 games.

Mary has been looking forward to this opportunity for the past two years and abandoned the long grind in the all-star leagues to bowl in the neighborhood circuits. She has been bowling in fine style, both at Garden Lanes and Merri-Bowl.

This will mark the third time that a bowler from the metropolitan area competed for the world title. In the first event Helen Shablis, then an instructor at Merri-Bowl, won the crown in Mexico and she was followed by Helen Weston who won the crown in Sweden.

The 13th proved to be a lucky day for Leo Sociecki, a member of the Chevy men's league at Westland Bowl.

With a 178 average he opened with a mere 155, then suddenly found the range for a 300 and closed with 192 for 642.

It was the first perfect game of the season at Westland and made Leo the top man on the Honor Roll.

The 700 Club at Wonderland Lanes took in three new members Tuesday night and lifted the total membership to 30 for the season, along with one 800 club member.

The class was headed by Rich Hughes who linked games of 234, 248 and 258 for a 740. The others were Fred Ringrose who opened with a 279 and followed with 224 and 226 for 729 and Harry Reetz who turned in a 704.

Kerry Reetz' Thirsty Ducks paced the team event with a 3173.

The Rosedale Gardens Civic League that has been bowling at Livonia

Lanes for the past 30, years seldom has had a better night of scoring than was posted during the past week.

Showing the way was Fran Bessinger with a 612 and he was followed by Pete Gadanici who rolled a 237 in 611. The high singles were a 243 by Bob Blank and a 234 by Ed Chojnowski.

In the women's house league only six pins separated the two leaders. Trudy Slitek set the pace with 213 while Noeren Harris furnished a 207 and Lynn Neidich a 201. Virginia Burns, a 167 bowler, took high series with 186, 185 and 187 for 558.

The Elks went on a scoring spree in Country Lanes with some of the best scores of their season.

Leo Jacoboli showed the way with a 244 in 611, while Jim Morrell, a 183 bowler, came through with a 235 in 599 and Gary Stephens had a 234 in 588.

The best performances went to Doyg Sharick, a 163 bowler, who found the range for a 245 in 665 and Bill Driscoll, of the University men's league, fired a 622.

As usual the girls had a great time converting splits at Mayflower Lanes. Betty Potvin topped the 3-7-10; Diane Richardson made the 5-7-9. In pin count Lee Melasi had a 521, Edith Sharrion a 499 and Virg Jaske a 498.

Ken Hibbs stole the show in the Thursday mixed league in Farmington Lanes with a 658. Behind him for honors came Jan Vanderwill with a 218 in 622 and Jan Schoenberg with a 203 in 605.

Another good performance was that of Pat Perreault who topped the prep boys with a 224.

Turf Tips, Quips

By Doc Minard

We wonder how long it will take area thoroughbred tracks to realize that neither of the plants is actually set up to take care of winter racing as it should be.

We are referring to the comfort of the patrons, who after all, are the ones who pay the freight and keep the track operating. For instance, Hazel Park has the thoroughbreds going at the present time and one wonders just how long the average racing fan will put up with improperly heated grandstands and clubhouse.

It seems like someone is stealing when a customer pays $3 for entrance into the clubhouse and then has to stand around in the cold to watch the races. At the Hazel Park clubhouse there isn't any way for those on first level (not the ground level) to view the races except on the closed television circuits. It isn't possible to walk out to a spot where one can actually watch the progress of the races.

That first level is enclosed but very poorly heated with the result that most of the customers are gathered under heaters near one of the tv sets. That isn't our idea of giving the fans some value for their $3.

The story is much the same at Wolverine where customers are given some heat but if they want to see the races they have to go out in the cold or stand under a tv set.

Hazel Park does have a chance to make one improvement that will meet with the approval of fans, employees and those at the concession stands. That is to glass enclose, heat and air condition the Roaring 20s area.

This is popular with patrons since it gives them a chance to watch the progress of the race and an opportunity to reach the betting ring in a few strides. It probably is the most convenient area in the entire plant and one that should be improved as soon as possible.

It isn't much fun to be standing in the Roaring 20s as many have done in the past two weekends when the weather is cold outside and just as cold inside.

It appears to us that Detroit area tracks could take a few tips from the large Canadian thoroughbred plants in the Toronto area. There, the customers have all the comforts of home and they enjoy the races.

The thoroughbred track managements should take a good look at their plants and seek out things that need improved rather than have the public complain.

The thoroughbred tracks started it and now President and General Manager Ms. Annette Rakietan, of Jackson-Northville, is continuing it. She has made arrangements for a series of lessons and instructions for newcomers to harness racing on Tuesday mornings at Northville Downs.

The lessons will be taught by Driver-Trainer Bobby Conn and will consist of instructions on how to read a program, how to enjoy the races, what is the difference between a pacer and trotter, how to make a wager and then a tour of the barn area to meet many of the drivers and trainers and watch them go through their morning chores.

Ms. Rakietan, thus is following in the footsteps of her late father, Leon A. Slavin who died in September, in doing everything possible to create more interest in the sport.

She also plans to continue the annual Thanksgiving Day dinner at the track with a special serving for the track colony early in the afternoon at reasonable prices.

There will be a complete buffet spread in the early evening for patrons in the grandstand with all tables cleared away well in advance of the appearance of horses for the first race.

Thus Nanette is continuing the policies of her father. He was a go-getter from the opening word and his daughter is rapidly picking up that same knowledge.

Livonia auto dealer Bill Brown has one of the top contenders in the pacing series now underway at the Jackson meeting. The pacer Erlanas Valley has won each of the first two legs and could go all the way.

The Royal Valley speedster seems to reach top form at the Jackson-Northville meet and was one of the leading contenders in the rich series last year.

OUT OF THE FEEDBOX- Veteran driver Harold Fisher hurries back to the barn to be close to a phone because his wife, Jerri, is at Pompano, Fla. expecting their second child... John MacDonell, a native of Nova Scotia, has found a home on a farm near Fowlerville... Frank Alexander liquidated a car wash enterprise near Cass City to devote full-time to harness racing... Bill Lundby is a fulltime horseman now, giving up the barber trade in South Lyons... Jud Austin was a barber in Brooklyn, Mich. before going into harness racing... Carl Allen once drove motorcycles before turning to pacers and trotters. He once sold vacuum sweepers also but has been cleaning up with his stable from Brighton.

Stevenson grads sparkle at MSU

Two outstanding former Stevenson High soccer players are in key roles for the Michigan State booters.

Goalie Gary Wilkinson, with six shutouts, and forward Jamie Doby, with two goals to his credit, are two reasons for State's 7-0-2 record.

Wilkinson, who earned all-league honors at Stevenson two years ago, stepped into the spot vacated by graduated Dave Goldman and opened the schedule with a 7-0 whitewashing of Eastern Michigan.

Later he reeled off three straight blankings against Oakland, Spring Arbor and Ohio State.

Gary and his defense are looking to possibly tie a longstanding MSU record of eight shutouts in one season.

An English major, Gary is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rollo Wilkinson of 17435 Rexwood in Livonia.

Doby, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Doby, 31616 St. Martins in Livonia, has provided the steady forward play in MSU's offensive attack.

He was also all-league in the '72 prep campaign.

Prep hockey tourney state dates announced

The Michigan High School Athletic Association has announced March 15, 1975, as the final date for the first state hockey tourney.

The high school hockey season officially begins Monday, Nov. 18, and will terminate with the state finals on March 15.

The tourney format will consist of regionals, quarterfinals, semifinals and finals.

The teams which represent approximately 80 high schools will be divided into two tiers, for tournament classification purposes with a special committee placing the teams in one of the two based on hockey experience.

The semifinal games will be played on Friday, March 14, with tier two semis at Veteran's Arena in Ann Arbor and tier one games at Yost Field House, University of Michigan.

The finals will be held as a single session doubleheader, with tier one playing at 3 p.m. and tier two at 5 p.m. at Yost.

Ski Heil

By

BILL CAMERON

If you missed the ski show this weekend you missed some fine entertainment and some interesting personalities.

One of the enjoyable byproducts of the show is seeing friends and acquaintances you may not see for months on end. I ran into John Held, owner of the Bavarian Village Ski Shops. When I first met John he owned one ski shop—Mt. Clemens—now he has expanded to six specialty shops in the Metropolitan Detroit area.

John informed me that each Saturday on Channel 9 at 1 p.m. you can tune in and see "The American Ski Scene" hosted by Billy Kidd. Each half-hour show will feature different ski areas from New Hampshire, Maine and Vermont in the east to Aspen, Snowbird, Big Sky, Taos, Jackson Hole and Heavenly Valley in the west.

John's sponsorship means you can check a ski area before you visit it via the magic of television. You can also catch the 1974 Lange Cup professional races on Sunday, Nov. 24, on Channel 2 at 2:30 p.m. This is the richest pro ski race of the year and should be exciting to watch.

Who says there are no bargains left? A seven day lift ticket in St. Anton, Austria is $50 during the low season and $34 in Kitzbuehel. Believe it or not if you can gather together a group of 20 people you could stay at a first class hotel in Innsbruck with breakfast and dinner for $70.

If you don't believe me, call Lufthansa German Airlines. The biggest cost in any ski package is your transportation. The longer you stay at an area, the less expensive your overall cost.

Air Canada has lowered their Ski-fari package to the Banff-Jasper area. If you want a real thrill, try their helicopter skiing at Whistler and the Bugaboos. I'd recommend you consider a serious fitness program before you tackle that type of skiing.

United Airlines set a record last year for the number of skiers they moved to the Rockies, and expect to increase business again this year.

American Airlines has opened up the Utah area with flights into Salt Lake City putting Park City, Alto and Snowbird within 25 miles.

Northwest Orient jets you to Jackson Hole, Wyoming and Big Sky, Montana. You can stay on the plane and keep going to Japan and experience Sapporo, site of the 1972 Winter Olympics.

See a travel agent before you hop on a plane. Many Ski areas may be a little short on housing and it gets a bit cold sleeping in a car.

No ski show would be complete without running into genial Bob Meyers of Crystal Mountain. Bob is looking forward to seeing his Observerland friends again this season.

Senate Dems select Faust 2nd in command

Sen. William Faust (D-Westland) has been selected by his colleagues for the second command position among Senate Democrats for the coming term.

Faust, whose 13th District includes Westland, Garden City and Canton Township, will be assistant Senate leader under Sen. William Fitzgerald of Detroit.

The Westland Senator started as a journalist in western Wayne County, and served as Nankin Township (now Westland) Supervisor before being elected to the Senate.

Republicans in the Senate and Democrats in the House are expected to elect their leaders sometime this week. Committee chairmanships are also expected to be decided this week.

OTHER SENATE Democratic leaders elected were:

Daniel Cooper of Oak Park, Senate floor leader; John Bowman of Roseville, president pro tem; Basil Brown of Highland Park, majority whip; and John E. McCauley of Grosse Ile, caucus chairman.

The House GOP has picked Dennis O. Cawthorne, 34, of Manistee, as its leader. Other Republican leaders picked were: John Mowat Jr. of Adrian, assistant leader; William R. Bryant Jr. of Grosse Pointe Farms, floor leader; James E. Defebaugh of Birmingham, assistant floor leader; Harry Gast Jr. of St. Joseph, caucus chairman; George A. Prescott of Tawas City, assistant caucus chairman; and Dan Angel of Marshall, Republican whip.

Those choices came as a mild disappointment for Rep. Thomas Brown (D-Westland), whose 37th District includes part of Canton Township. Brown was unsuccessful in a bid for chairman of the House Democratic Caucus.

Rep. John Markes (D-Westland), whose 36th District also includes part of Livonia, said he wasn't seeking any leadership positions this term but is content to remain on those committees in which he has an interest. Markes is interested in becoming chairman of the House Policy Committee, on which he now serves as vice-chairman.

KEN CARL PURSELL (R-Plymouth), whose 14th District includes Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Livonia, Redford Township and a small part of Westland, is seen by many as a contender for a Republican Senate leadership post.

He improved his chances by pulling off a wide victory margin in an election which saw many traditional GOP areas swamped by Democrats.

Not only did Pursell buck the trend, but received 62 per cent of the vote in his district which political observers rated as a 50-50 toss up.

SEN. WILLIAM FAUST

Pursell won with a solid majority in Redford Township, primarily a Democratic area, and in other areas gained 75 per cent of the vote.

Area scouts begin metro clothing drive

A "Good Turn" clothing drive will be held Nov. 23-Dec. 7. The drive is sponsored by the Detroit Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America to provide training and employment for handicapped men and women at Goodwill Industries.

Considered to be one of the largest one-day collection drives ever attempted, the drive will cover all of Wayne County, southern Oakland and southern Macomb counties.

About 400 scout troops will participate involving an estimated 15,000 scouts, scout leaders, other volunteer workers and cub scout packs, in many of the areas.

Starting Saturday, Nov. 23, scouts will deliver clothing bags to 300,000 homes in the metropolitan area. Householders are asked to fill the bags with repairable clothing, shoes and other small articles which can be repaired by the handicapped workers at the Goodwill Industries Division of League for the Handicapped.

Scouts will return to collect filled bags on Saturday, Dec. 7. Householders are asked to have filled bags on front porches by 10 a.m.

A total of about 50 trucks will be involved in the drive including the entire Goodwill fleet and about 40 trucks loaned for the day by trucking and industrial firms. Drivers will include members of the Teamsters' union locals in the area.

Goodwill Industries, one of the largest agencies devoted to vocational rehabilitation and employment of the handicapped, provides work for about 200 handicapped employees through collection, repair and sale of discarded articles. Sales are made through 10 retail stores located in the metropolitan area.

Hilbert, Smith named to national health posts

Two Wayne County officials have been elected to top posts in national health organizations.

Morton S. Hilbert, member of the Wayne County Planning Commission, is the new president-elect of the American Public Health Association (APHA).

Symuel H. Smith, executive director of Wayne County General Hospital, has been elected to the Governing Council of the Public General Hospital Section of the American Hospital Association.

The 50,000-member APHA elected Hilbert, during its national conference in New Orleans recently.

HILBERT has held the health seat on the county planning commission since 1967. A former Wayne County health department official, he presently is chairman of the Department of Environmental and Industrial Health at the University of Michigan School of Public Health.

Smith was elected to the governing council of the AHA's public hospital section by council members. The section's executive director described Smith's election as "an overwhelming expression of confidence."

Smith was appointed executive director of Wayne County General Hospital in September as part of a long-range effort by county commissioners to modernize and improve the hospital. He formerly headed one of New York 19 city hospitals.

3 men take food honors

Three men in Schoolcraft College's culinary arts department have earned special certification by the American Culinary Federation.

Robert Breithaupt, director of culinary arts and food service, has been certified as an executive master chef. He is the only Michigan chef to achieve the rank, and one of just six in the nation.

Richard Benson and James VanVuren, both instructors at Schoolcraft, have been certified as executive chefs. They are among seven in Michigan and 124 in the nation.

"Persons qualifying for certification must have 10 years experience in the field and meet judging criteria."

Certification entitles them to use the initials "CEMC" and "CEC" after their names as evidence of professional attainment.

Chefs Breithaupt and VanVuren have been at Schoolcraft since 1966. Chef Benson joined the staff a year later.

Beekeepers set meeting

The increased cost of sugar may have stimulated the interest in beekeeping, according to Don Juchartz, Wayne County Extension director.

Juchartz advises new beekeepers looking for advice and help to attend the annual business meeting of the Michigan Beekeepers Association Dec. 6 and 7 in the Capitol Park Motor Hotel, 500 S. Capitol, Lansing. There is a registration fee.

Get Rid of Gray Hair Some of it or all of it

1st Day 6th Day 12th Day 18th Day

Time-lapse photographs show how gradual action of Grecian Formula 16 lets you control just how much gray you slowly get rid of - some of it or all of it.

White Plains, N.Y. — Hundreds of thousands of men all over the country are now using a remarkable product to control just how much gray they slowly get rid of. It is called Grecian Formula 16 and the results are simply amazing. Grecian Formula 16 is a practically clear liquid, as easy to use as hair tonic. This remarkable formula works for any color hair because it combines with the natural chemistry of the hair to recreate natural-looking color. There is no mess and no rub-off. You simply use it every day for two or three weeks until you slowly get rid of just as much gray as you want. Some of it, most of it or all of it. You can stop where you like. You are in complete control of how much gray goes or stays. Once you get rid of as much gray as you want, simply use Grecian Formula once a week or so to keep it that way. Since Grecian Formula 16 works gradually over a period of time, even close friends won't notice the change happening. The resulting color is so completely natural that the hair definitely does not have a dyed look. Grecian Formula 16 is available at

MUSTANG 1973, 12,000 miles

A black and white photograph showing a large crowd of people gathered for a parade. The crowd is dense, filling the frame from the foreground to the background. In the upper right, a sign for 'USED MOTORHOME' is visible, along with other smaller signs and text. The people are dressed in casual attire, and the overall scene suggests a public event or celebration.

GREATER DETROIT: YOU'VE NEVER

A UNIQUE STORE THAT OFFERS YOU TRUE 1-STOP SHOPPING. OVER 100,000 ITEMS CAN BE CHECKED OUT AT ANY ONE OF 38 CHECKOUTS.

Meijer Thrifty Acres is Detroit's first hypermarket. A retailing innovation, hypermarkets feature high stacking of merchandise in bins, tubs and the original cartons. This puts more goods out front and less in the back rooms. The reduced handling expenses mean that lower prices are passed on to you.

Meijer Thrifty Acres is 1-Stop Shopping. Now, for the first time, you can do almost all your shopping in one store. You can choose from over 100,000 different items to purchase at any one of 38 checkouts. You can load up your cart with groceries, wall paneling, clothing — even the kitchen sink — and pay for them all at the same register.

Meijer Thrifty Acres means "Why Pay More" prices. Meijer has a 40 year tradition of bringing our Michigan customers goods at the lowest possible prices. Now, more than ever, low prices are very important.

Meijer Thrifty Acres is customer satisfaction. We guarantee your satisfaction on everything you buy. The Meijer guarantee is that simple. Because if we don't live up to our guarantee, you probably won't be our customer very long.

Meijer Thrifty Acres is convenient shopping. Our checkout lanes are open from 10:30 p.m. Monday thru Saturday. We're open 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Sunday. The Party Party convenience store is open 7 a.m. to 1 a.m. every day of the week. The Party Party is a convenient place to pick up a loaf of bread or a quart of milk, or cold beer and pop.

Meijer Thrifty Acres is selection. At Meijer you can find just about everything you need, from soup to nuts and bolts. And you can find the right value you're looking for in price. For example, our Meat Department offers two grades of beef, Meijer Finest U.S. Choice and Meijer Economy Beef. In the Grocery Department you can find nationally known brands as well as our own brands. The Paint Department stocks brand name paint and two grades of our own Meijer brand paint.

any item you want, you can find it here. From 8 a.m. until 8 p.m., our Party Pantry is a quick, easy place to get what you need from a wide variety of products. We have a lot of choices, and we're always adding new ones.

Meijer Thrifty Acres is our check cashing Courtesy Card. The Meijer Courtesy Card makes it possible to buy by check. Applications for our Courtesy Card are available at the Courtesy Desk and from any cashier. You can use your Michigan BankAmericard or Mastercharge for any item except supermarket purchases, food and alcohol. A Lay-A-Way plan is available at no additional charge. Of course, you can always use cash.

Meijer Thrifty Acres is more than another store, it's part of your community. More than 400 of your friends and neighbors work at Meijer. We bale and recycle our paper and cardboard waste instead of burning it. We have a glass and newspaper recycling station in the parking lot to help you help the environment. Our 1300 car parking lot features oversized parking spaces divided by double lines to help protect your car from nicks and scratches. We try to make our store as clean as possible. And our employees know they really work for you.

In the middle of the store, the kiddies find "refuge" in the Oasis; a raised play area equipped with TV and sturdy, safe toys. There is no charge for the use of this department.

GLASS AND PAPER RECYCLING

You'll find large glass recycling bins in the parking lot provided as part of our effort to return those non-returnable bottles back to the glass factories. You can help by sorting the bottles by color into the part of the bin so designated. We also shred and bale all of our paper and cardboard for recycling.

SNACK BAR

Breakfast, lunch, or dinner - sandwiches or snacks. You'll find it all at the Meijer Snack Bar! Our menu offers a pleasing selection of hot or cold foods and beverages.

CLEAN REST ROOMS AND CONVENIENTLY LOCATED PARK BENCHES

We care about our customers. Clean rest rooms, public telephones, and park benches are conveniently located. Specially designated parking places, ground floor services, and wheel chairs make shopping easier for handicapped persons.

SHOE AND LEATHER REPAIR SHOP

A full service shoe department - insoles, key cases, shoe polish, brushes, scissors and knives sharpened, leather cleaned professionally shoe repairs, keys made, zipper repair, rubber stamps made.
